We Go Together...

Manhattan High School's success calls for a recipe combining many different types of individuals.

Begin with a little laughter, anger, smiles, frustrations, and tears as we work together towards the same goal, graduation. Next, fold in an older generation to guide the new along the way.

We are like a huge bowl with a mix of different ingredients: a helping of preps and jocks, a pinch of cowboys and the new wave, a sprinkle of hoods and punks and last, but not least, a dash of foreign exchange students and those with special needs.

When we mix together the special interests in with the others, what do we get? We get the complete student body at MHS! Of course, we can't forget the spice and seasoning offered by the administrators, teachers and support personnel.

Each of these ingredients has different interests, styles, choice of activities, backgrounds and goals, which proves to all that it takes many parts to become one high school.

We go together forever as Manhattan High Indians.

Who Are We?

Patty King

Beyond Poyntz and Sunset sits a building where people's lives are shaped everyday. MHS is more than just a place, however. It's the people inside that makes the school special.

We are an student assemblage of 1,778 strong, 884 girls and 894 boys. A mixture of 415 seniors, 419 juniors, 440 sophomores and 485 freshmen. Included in these numbers were friends, lovers and enemies blending together to make the MHS student body.

But we students were not alone. Providing and supporting our education were 110 teachers, five administrators, 28 support personnel, five counselors and two media specialists.

Brenda Unterberger, senior, described Manhattan High as "a group of many different ethnic groups as well as different social cliques," while freshman Liz Pickle said, "MHS is like a fruit salad. It has its sweet and sour parts. It has a lot of variety and if one part was missing, MHS just wouldn't be the same."

How Luckey High Fits In...

Jonell Borst
Staff Writer

They were few, but they had pride in their school and the traditions it had. But when Luckey High School closed its doors in May of 1986, its students had to start anew with another school's traditions.

Over the past several years, LHS enrollment gradually decreased, causing tuition to increase. It came to the point where the school could no longer afford to stay open.

Former student Diana Staab noted, "The closing of Luckey High had been discussed a lot in the past couple of years. We all pretty much knew it was coming, but not as soon as it did. There was a great feeling of shock and helplessness because there was nothing we could do."

For most of the 65 Luckey transfers, the adjustment to MHS was excellent and brief. Some enriched the quality of school activities as about 10 students were involved in music and more than 20 went out for fall sports.

Some of the students even had to make a choice between several activities. This was a problem they did not face at their old school. Because of the smaller enrollment, it was possible to be in more than one sport, club or musical group at the same time.

"I wish that I could have been in more activities," commented Jenny Mathews, a former LHSer.

One of the things that some of the former Cardinals found hard to adjust to was the size of their classes. Donny Hayes said that at Luckey "the classes were smaller and you received more individual help from the teacher."

Others said that because of the size of the LHS student body, it was possible to know everyone. This aspect made their atmosphere more personal.

Most transfers enjoyed the change, however. A few commented that they liked meeting a lot of different people. They were also glad to have a larger variety of classes to choose from and liked the longer lunch period.

Dorothy Fulghem expressed the feelings of most former Cardinals. "We're here now (at MHS), but we will always remember Luckey High."

What We Learn...

Manhattan High School has always been known for its outstanding athletic teams, but what is sometimes ignored is the wide variety of scholastic, vocational and elective classes offered.

Together these classes are able to satisfy the educational goals and needs of a large and diverse student body.

From ceramics and auto mechanics to college preparatory courses, MHS offers classes to meet the needs and wishes of students with a wide range of interests.

In the English department, for example, there are 28 different classes offered as opposed to maybe five or six that a small high school would offer. The classes range from forensics to Myth and Legend.

Twenty-eight courses also are offered by the science department, with selections ranging from Aviation to the Wide Horizons Program.

Aside from the wide range of classes offered at MHS, classes also are offered at Manhattan Vocational Technical School where the emphasis is on specialized training in a particular skill or occupation.

To keep MHS offerings and units up-to-date, curriculum revisions are done on a regular basis. The math curriculum study was begun last fall, and the social studies update is continuing.

A direct result of the English curriculum two years ago resulted in the purchase of 4,000 new textbooks for a total cost of $43,941.85. The new books were used for the first time last fall.

What We're Involved In...

Throughout the year students got involved in a wide variety of activities. From Fall Homecoming to prom and graduation, student had the opportunity to participate in or attend school-sponsored events.

Whether it was the volleyball competition during Winter Homecoming, the laughter during the Mr. MHS pageant, or the new dance entry, MORP, these events encouraged students to spend time together outside the classroom.

Those with drama and musical interests were able to showcase their talents before appreciative audiences at the school musical, the winter and spring plays, and the annual variety show.

These events created "memories in the making."

Membership in organizations continued to remain popular at MHS, with more than 1,060 signatures collected when students flooded the commons for the annual club sign up day in September.

Following old tradition, Tribe sported the most student participation, with AFS and Octagon trailing closely behind with more than 100 signatures. Coastal Studies, MHS's newest organization, also had a successful turnout with more than 40 students.

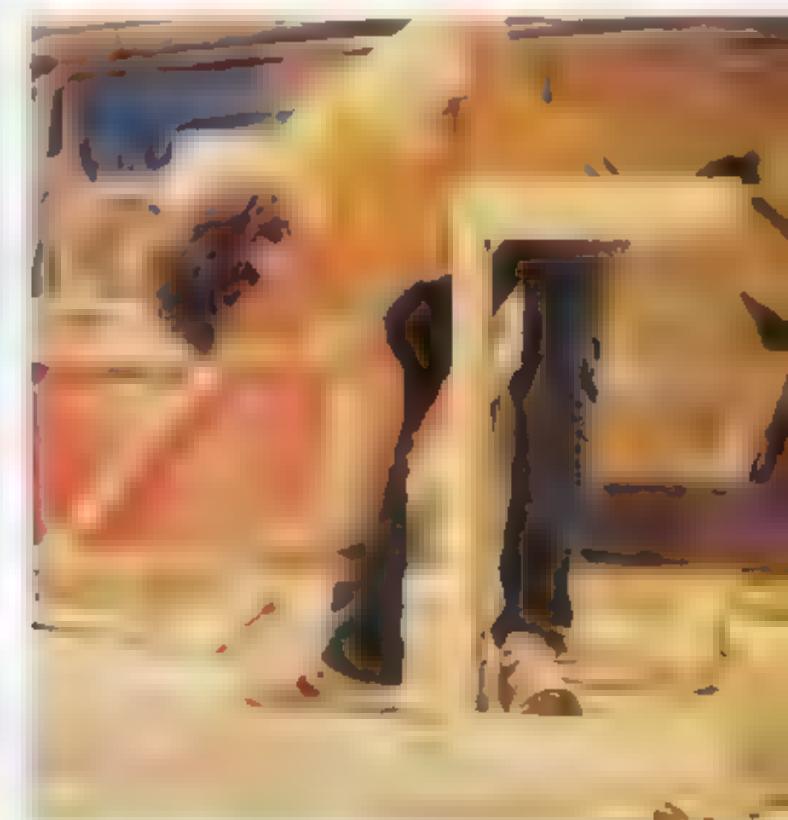

High membership numbers were largely due to the fact that enrollment was at its peak during the 1986-7 school year. Moreover, many college-bound students found school activities to be an excellent alternative to athletics.

Counselors encouraged student participation for the purpose of developing leadership and organizational skills or perhaps making an important career choice. School activities emphasized teamwork and dedication, but more importantly they helped students develop a sense of responsibility.

Although school organizations played an important role in occupational decisions and character building, most students joined clubs to have fun. From hayrides to elegant three-course French dinners, the variety of events sponsored by organizations provided a welcome diversion from the school day.

Most importantly, as Tribe president Heidi Kruckenburg summed it up, "Clubs are a great way to meet people, have fun, and get involved! That's what it's all about."

Give me an S! S. Give me a P! P. Give me an O! O. Give me an R! R. Give me an T! T. Give me an S! S. What does that spell? SPORTS!

For approximately 40 percent of the students at Manhattan High, sports was an essential part of their lives during the 1986-87 school year. During a season, practicing and competition usually take about three hours a day for a total of about 15 hours a week.

And for what you ask? "For the thrill of victory and to avoid the agony of defeat," said Mary Kunkel, a senior gymnastics team member. "No, seriously, because it is fun and I get to express myself."

Senior quarterback Matt Veatch said he competed in football "because I love to compete and I love to win. It gives me a feeling of satisfaction when I do well."

Through sports, the athlete learns a variety of special skills, all the way from emotional control and understanding other people to self-discipline and perseverance. According to Veatch, athletics has taught him "discipline and how to deal with winning and losing. It also teaches me how to work to be the very best that I can."

Senior basketball co-captain J. T. Marshall pointed out that sports have taught him "how to get along with people better."

Even competition is a lesson. It helps the athlete realize that competition is a dominate part of everyone's lives, from getting the best deal on a purchase to seeking a job.

Manhattan High offers 16 varsity sports, eight for boys and eight for girls: football, basketball, wrestling, swimming and diving, cross country, tennis, golf, track, volleyball, and gymnastics.

All sports have a varsity team, but some—such as football, basketball, and volleyball—go even further and have competition on the junior varsity, sophomore and freshmen levels.

What We Enjoy...

School, for many, was just a place to exist for eight hours. In at 8, out at 3, with little to enjoy in between. But many found ways to have a little fun during school anyway. And everyone had ways of making the afterschool hours and weekends more enjoyable.

Going out to lunch had always been a way to leave school behind for a short time. Making a donut run was a time-honored tradition, especially when you had a substitute who didn't know any better.

After school or practice, some people watched TV and grabbed a snack. Others talked on the phone or went shopping. But the most popular afterschool activity by far was "just messing around."

On weekends, it was easier to get out and do what you wanted to do. You could have gone to a party or just piled everyone in a car and cruised all night. Sunday nights were the highly attended Teen Nights at Bonkers. Or you could have spent some time alone with a close friend on a date.

For most of us, school was the center of our lives. And for most of us, it could be difficult at times. Every now and then we needed an escape. Whatever it was we did and whenever we did it, we did it to have fun. It was what we enjoyed.

How We Adapt To Change...

Sara Kitchen

High school is a time of change for everyone. We change more at this time than any other time within our schooling years.

Our minds and bodies progress to an adult level, hopefully. We become much more concerned with our futures and the future of the world, as we become more involved in it.

Some people have an easier time adjusting to this transformation, while others find it difficult and either rebel or close themselves off from society.

Fashion trends fade in and fade out, friends come and go, causing high school to signify in our lives that which is exciting and fun interspersed with trials and tribulations.

As we changed physically, fashions and fads in clothing also changed. We were submitted to the constant inflow and outflow of certain styles, trying our best to make our bodies look good in whatever's "in."

Things that we stuffed the bottom halves of our bodies in were "jams," light-weight material shorts that contained various designs and were made long to be rolled up, and '501 Levi's jeans.

Girls wore long shirts or dropped waists (belts around their hips), while some boys had their hair cut in a "flat top" style.

It was trendy to wear clothes that were daring or different from other peoples' clothes, but those clothes had to be different in a way that also fitted in with fashion to be respected.

Idea-wise, students changed their views on life through high school and formed a base upon which they began to make decisions. While some decisions were school related, others covered the spectrum of life.

Stuffed Halls

Jennifer Gilbert

Seeing old friends, meeting new ones, testing out new classes, and deciding whether or not to like the teachers were a few of the excitements about the beginning of school as students faced the new school year with hopes, questions, desires, and dreams.

When school began on Aug. 25, the parking lots filled up fast as students honked and waved to one another.

Students were surprised by the all-time record enrollment of 1,759. There were many new faces to see from the large freshman class and the 65 transfer students from Luckey High School. The halls were packed with students shuffling to their next class. Thirteen new teachers were added to the staff, making a grand total of 117 faculty members at Manhattan High.

There was no need for a heat schedule with temperatures staying comfortably in the 70's and 80's. In addition, an $80,000 ventilation system was installed to draw hot air out at night. This contributed to keeping students and teachers comfortable during the 6 hour, 15-minute school day, which was increased by 5 minutes.

Other beginning-of-school happenings were the yearbook signing party Aug. 7, Playfair Aug. 24, club sign up Sept. 4, football soap scrimmage Sept. 5 and the car caravan, first football game and Booster Club dance Sept. 12.

Manhattan High tried to "Take It to the Limit" during Homecoming Week, Oct. 20-24, but had to overcome an obstacle.

The major disappointment of Homecoming was the cancellation of the parade due to rain. This was to the dismay of those students who worked diligently on their floats.

The seniors were awarded $50 for their winning float during halftime of the football game in which the Indians shut out the Topeka West Chargers, 5-0.

Also during halftime, the honoraries were introduced with Gar Ball and Krista Fronce being recognized as king and queen.

'Camelot' transports MHS back to the Medieval Age

David Unakis
Staff Writer

For three days last fall, the legendary Camelot existed again, but not in England. The location was the MHS auditorium as the music and drama departments presented Camelot Nov. 13, 14 and 16.

Lead roles were portrayed by Clint Riley as King Arthur, Char Hoppe as Guenevere and Bob Fleener as Sir Lancelot.

Cast in supporting roles were Scot Graham (Sir Pellinore), Jason Schaefer (Mordred), Chris Sidorsky (Merlin), Daphne Richards (Morgan Le Fey), Peter Paukstelis (Sir Dinidain), Alan Zidek (Sir Sagramore) and Tim Adams (Sir Lionel).

More than 2,000 people attended the show, which drew standing ovations and good reviews over the course of its three performances.

Mr. Dan Commerford, MHS music director, said Camelot went very well all three times, noting that the length and seriousness of the production made it more challenging to perform, but he was happy with how the show was handled.

"There were virtually no weak moments," he said. "I was probably more pleased with this musical than any other I've ever done."

More than 500 students attended the school's first-ever MORP, prom spelled backwards, which had some backwards situations.

The dress code for the Dec. 6 event was unlike any other dance, with "dress down" and being wild and crazy the "in" attire. Some of the outfits included the boy wearing a dress and the girl wearing men's pants.

The dance itself was held in the MMS gym and was decorated with trash, unlike being held in a formal ballroom amid crepe paper streamers. For dinner the accommodations also were less than elegant. At best the date got to eat at McDonald's.

Eighteen MHS students participated in the national Close Up program in Washington, D.C., in January to get a firsthand look at American government.

The week-long event included interactions with Washington officials and U.S. Representatives and Senators, as well as tours of the nation's capital.

Students and their sponsor, Mrs. Mickey Bogart, also participated in workshops on governmental issues, attended informal gatherings to meet new friends and went on sight seeing expeditions to research on their own.

Although the snowy weather put a damper on traveling and activities, the participants didn't let the wintry conditions deter them. Instead, they became involved in snow statue building contests and snowball fights. They also had practice pushing buses stuck in the snow.

"Overall, the $795 trip was all worth the money!" said senior Brenda Mitchem.

A mini-parade, Miss Sweet Feet contest and an overall points competition added a new dimension to the Tribe-sponsored Winter Spirit Week, Feb. 16-20.

Emphasizing the theme, "This is the Time," 12 clubs decorated minifloats on little red wagons which were paraded around the North Gym during the Homecoming game pep rally.

Miss Sweet Feet, the female answer to Mr. Sexy Legs, had 17 contestants, with Annika Borjesson (AFS) receiving the most votes. William Marsh (NFL) was chosen Mr. Sexy Legs.

AFS (with a first in the volleyball tournament and the sweet feet contest) and French Club (winner of the mini-parade competition and runner-up in window painting) tied for top points with 120. Spanish Club (110 points) took third with a first in window painting and second in mini-float.

Some of us have had our best friend since childhood. Others have become best friends in high school. Either way, having a best friend is very important to most MHS students.

A best friend is a person that keeps your secrets, listens to you when you talk, offers a shoulder for you to lean on and, most of all, makes your high school days memorable.

Do you remember those days of taking "extra" long lunches, taking your best friend to a dance because you didn't have a date or possibly sitting at home studying together for 2-3 hours. But instead of getting caught up on homework, you got caught up on the latest gossip.

High school wasn't just a day full of tests, homework and nagging teachers, but one of companionship, excitement and memories

"The thing I'll remember most about my best friend in high school," said Jenny Deines, "is all the schemes we dreamed up behind our parents' backs and the thrill of pulling them off

"I'll think about all the things we wanted—and thought we'd die without—but eventually found weren't so important. I'll remember the romances we helped each other through, the times one of us picked up the phone to hear the other sobbing on the other end about who knows what or who had broken our hearts.

"Most of all, though, I'll remember how I felt with her," Jenny said. "Totally at ease, completely myself."

Cream the President, 'Room 101,' Dunk-a-Farmer all a part of the Money Making Fun

Jonell Borst

Devised chaos broke loose in the commons area March 27 as the face of a high official was defiled, hit men were on the make, innocent citizens were slimed and farmers were subjected to a form of water torture.

What cruel affair was this? It was "Sometime in the Future" at the annual Thespian Carnival, which was attended by about 200 people.

general public to be condemned to receive a pie in her face at the StuCo-sponsored booth, while the Thespians hired out hit men to nab a participant's enemy or friend and force him or her to watch a Thespian-made video in "Room 101."

Hero club sponsored a game of chance in which a person paid to have an egg cracked over his or her head, whether it be hard-boiled or not, and the FFA members were at the mercy of anyone who threw a softball at the Dunk-a-Farmer tank.

Eleven clubs participated in the Carnival, including the French Club crepe cafe, the German Club casino and the traditional NHS cake walk.

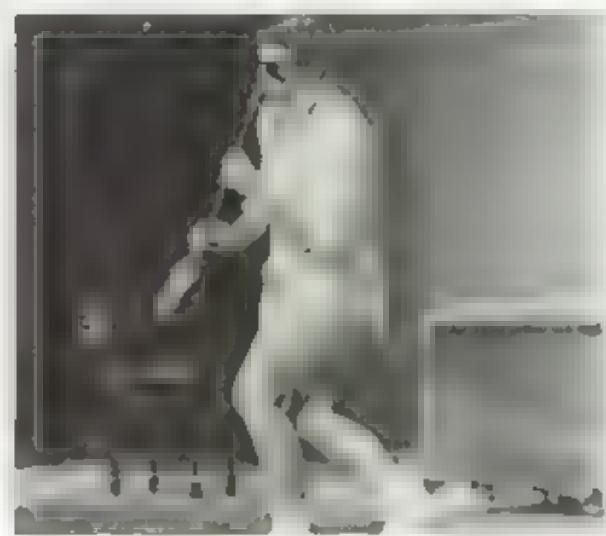

Thespian Club President Alan Zidek said he thought the carnival went "really well considering it was Mrs. (Michelle) Hendrix's first year as our adviser. It should be even better next year," he added.

The Thespians charged a 50-cent admission and sold 3,411 tickets at 10 cents apiece. Most booths charged one to three tickets to participate. The NHS cake walk made the most money, almost $100.

Juggling, singing, "flash dancing" and other strange and unusual talents were all displayed April 10 at the second annual Mr. MHS contest, which was attended by more than 700 people.

For the second year in a row, a state champion wrestler won the event as Chad Cecil was crowned Mr. MHS. First runner-up was Jared Rand, and second runner-up was Clint Riley. Manny Urquilla was chosen Mr. Congeniality.

The other contestants were Tim Adams, Tony Caldwell, James Chen, J.R. Henton, Kent Kiracofe, Wim Preyde, David Unekis and Ken Ward.

The contest began with a surprise entry of the contestants down the auditorium aisles where they tossed roses to the audience. On stage they were greeted by 1986 Mr. MHS Brock Everett, Student Council Vice President Stephanie Crill and Fall Homecoming Queen Krista Fronce.

After the contestant introductions in their evening wear, the talent category began. Talents ranged from a lip sync by underwear and shirt clad Chad Cecil to J.R. Henton's "awesome" display of strength and muscle tone.

Attire for the swimsuit competition varied from a scuba diver to the favorite of the ladies, Jared Rand's playboy bunny outfit. At Jared's entrance on stage, the Blue Notes Jazz Band switched their song to The Stripper.

The contest was sponsored by Kays-Kayettes, Coastal Studies and Student Council. Emcees were Dennis Marstall and Mandy Nelson.

'86-87 popular fads and fashions demonstrate

Flair, Trends

When someone asks you 10 years from now what were the popular trends in 1986-87, tell them....

Teen-agers frequented Polo's, the new NAB bar which opened in February. Polo's featured the top 40 songs, Aggierville's largest dance floor, a big screen TV, video games and NAB drinks. Admission was $2.50.

Crocodile Dundee, Platoon, and Top Gun attracted teen-age moviegoers, with tickets to most movies priced at $4 in the evening and $1 on Tuesday's Bargain Night. Tanning sessions for up to $4 for a 30-minute time slot were scheduled in the late afternoon and late evening. Self-service gas was $.87, and regular candy bars were $40.

Guys spent their leisure time cruising "the 'ville," working on their cars and dating. Favorite attire included Levi's® jean jackets and faddish jeans, plaid shirts, Polo® knit shirts and cologne, Reebok® high tops and cowboy boots.

For girls, fashion was about anything. Top items included silver jewelry, pastel colors, colored socks, lace collars placed over sweaters, gold and silver metallic shoes, over-sized shirts and fabric hair bows.

The school was invaded by a small triangular emblem with the words "Guess" embossed boldly in the center. It was sewn on jeans, jackets, mini-skirts, overalls and a variety of sportswear. Other popular styles included colored boots and Keds® tennies

More than 300 people attended the spring production of Arsenic and Old Lace April 24 and 25.

In the madcap comedy, two eccentric, elderly ladies end the misery of lonely, older gentlemen by poisoning them with arsenic and elderberry wine.

Jonathon Brewster, an escaped convict with several murders to his name, Teddy Brewster, a poor soul who thinks he's Teddy Roosevelt, and Mortimer Brewster, a fussy theater critic, are the aunts' three nephews who enliven the story with antics of their own.

Spring made an early appearance in February when temperatures rose to the 70's, giving students a chance to enjoy the sun and making it harder to concentrate on classes.

Though the cold weather returned, it was only for a short while as April debuted with unexpected highs in the 90's. As the days grew longer and the evening came later, students could be found at the lake, cruising Aggieland or sunbathing for a couple of hours.

A garden trellis decorated with pink streamers and silver balloons welcomed promgoers as they entered into the K-State Union Ballroom May 2.

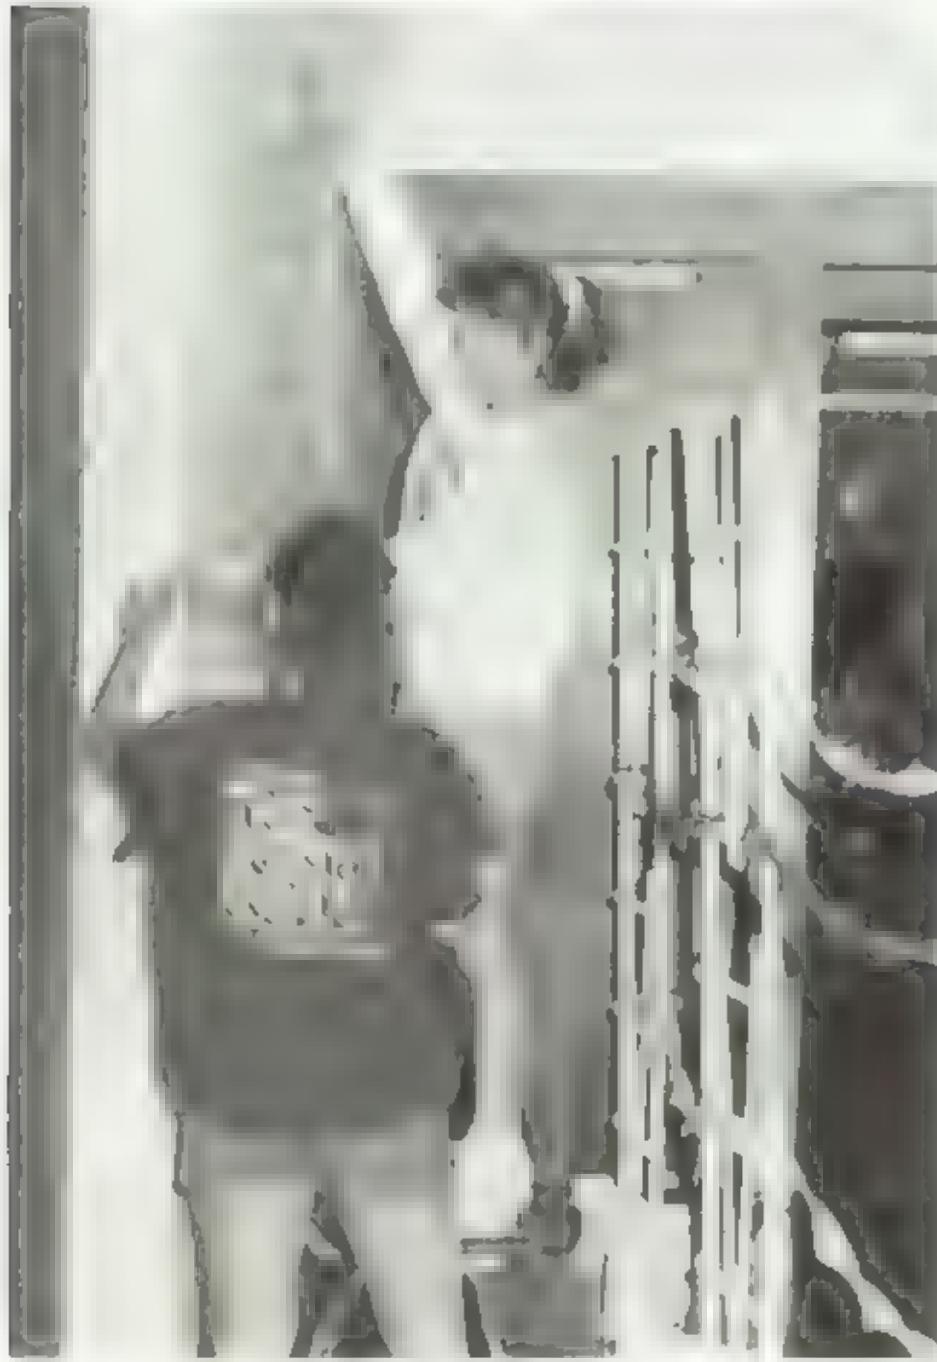

The band, Line One, entertained approximately 300 couples from 9 to midnight. The prom theme, "Never Say Goodbye," was sung by Natalie Springer and Bobby Campbell.

The usual tradition of boys wearing tuxes to match their date's formal was broken when the guys decided to jazz up their attire with paint splattered shirts and metallic bow ties. The girls matched the challenge by wearing metallic and lace-trimmed dresses, most of them strapless.

Crowned as Prom King and Queen were Steve Post and Char Hoppe, while Jayson Kaus and Katie Williams were selected as Prince and Princess.

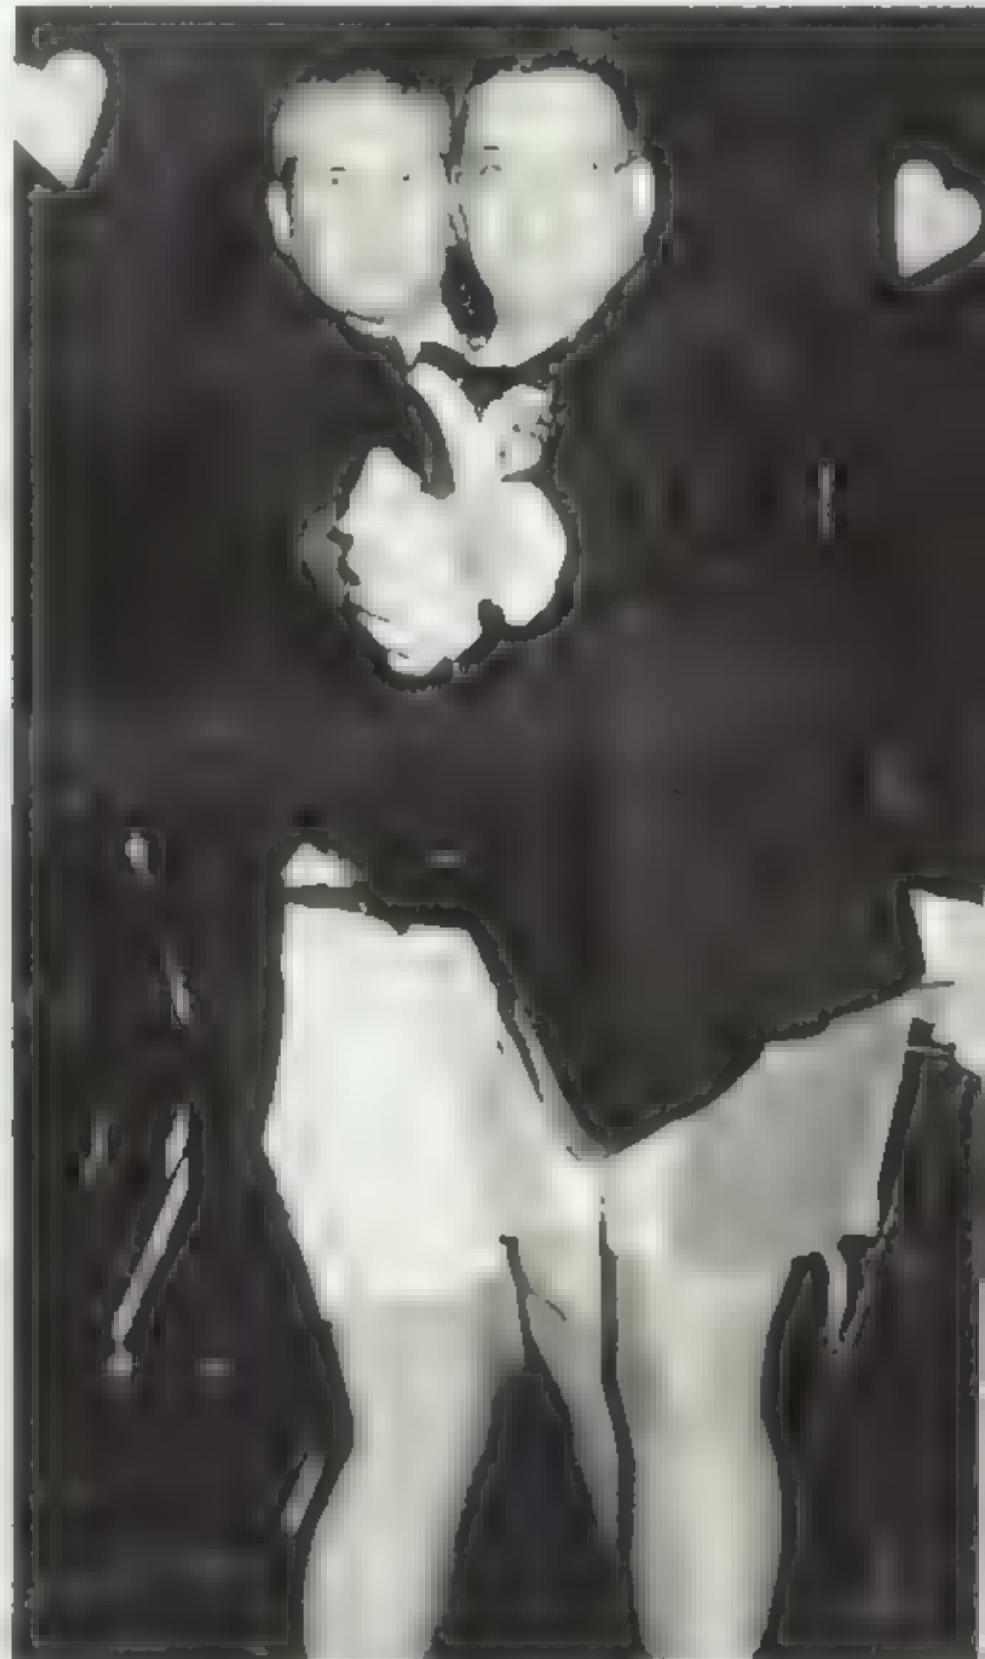

As the students left the ballroom hot and sticky from the heat, most attended the after-dance held at Polo's, a non-alcoholic bar in Aggierville. Breakfast was served at EeGee's Restaurant.

Remembered most about prom were how extremely hot the ballroom was and the two fights which marred the evening's festive atmosphere. Senior Eric Barton remembered the band as "pretty weak," while junior Andi Kuhn described the night as "a blast."

Continuing the school's tradition of excellence, students won the state's first 5A-6A Scholars Bowl, captured the sweepstakes award in the KSPA Journalism competition and received more than 300 honors during the Academic, athletic and activity Awards night May 12.

Terri Brown and Eric Barton received the Army Reserve National Athlete-Scholar Award, which was established to recognize top senior scholar-athletes across the country.

The Gary Hixson award, which is given to a senior athlete demonstrating outstanding leadership qualities to his teammates, was presented to John Mugler.

Winners of the KSHSAA citizenship awards were seniors Jodie Woods and Clint Riley, who were honored for displaying outstanding characteristics of citizenship, reverence for life and respect for country.

For excellence in academic achievement, juniors David Lee and Becky Page were honored with the Harvard Book Club Award. Junior Becky Brown received the Smith College Award, and Katie Williams won the Jean Van Valkenburgh Award, which goes to a junior girl who has shown outstanding school spirit.

French, Spanish, German, social studies, math, debate, forensics and English awards also were presented.

State of Kansas Scholarship Awards were given to 94 students, 18 of whom were honored as state medalists. Gold medals for having the top score in the state went to Kevin Sampson, plane geometry; Colin Davis, citizenship; Clint Riley, physics; Chris Sidorfsky, English 10; Rebecca Page, Literature 11; Francis Fung, Spelling 10; Colleen Terrell, Spelling 11; and Laura Pelletier and Sarah Wigglesworth, Spelling 12 (tie). In the class competition, 24 students placed first, second or third.

On Scholarship Night May 19, more than 250 scholarships were presented to 126 seniors.

Among the many awards, Jabin Bell, Kirsten Unger, Martha Kropf, Tonya Roche and Clint Riley were honored for maintaining a 4.0 grade point average throughout high school.

Four seniors received National Merit awards, three were presented Putnam scholarships, four were named KSU Presidential Scholars and 19 were given athletic scholarships.

End of school meant laying your head down on your desk for that necessary nap, complaining how hot it was in the school and anticipating the ring of the bell that signified one less day of school. Classes ended on May 29.

Regardless of all those things, school went on. As the year's activities came to a close, the music department gave its final performances, cheerleaders were chosen to carry on the Indian spirit and the vocational agriculture students sponsored their annual Food for America program for USD 383 third graders.

Despite the overload of finals, excitement about graduation grew stronger for members of the Class of 1987 as the juniors eyed the senior bench. The soon-to-be seniors were quick to move in on the senior bench and senior parking lot as the graduates-to-be attended the senior breakfast and graduation practice.

For the second year in a row, graduation was moved indoors, when afternoon showers and thunderstorms made an outdoor commencement impractical. The commencement exercises were held at Ahearn Fieldhouse, marking the first time the event took place on the K-State campus.

In spite of the inclement weather and a 5-minute chair shortage, the jidgety, hot 393 graduates were in good spirits. An audience of more than 4,000 friends and relatives attended graduation and endured the warm, moist temperatures in the fieldhouse.

Senior speaker David Unekis boasted that the Class of 1987 had "the lowest drop out rate ever" and later took his classmates on an amusing venture to the beginning of their high school years.

To conclude his speech, he recounted an old friend telling him, "Just one more year, David. Just one more year." He paused, then added, "Just one more speech, one more speech."

KSU President Jon Wefald, the commencement speaker, stressed that the graduates "be persistent," no matter what. He cited an example from his own childhood when he was told that he would never make it in college.

"Vacation From Intoxication," the third annual post graduation party, was held at the KSU Recreation Complex. From 10:30 p.m. to 3 a.m., 281 graduates played such sports as volleyball, basketball and racquetball, sat in the sauna, gambled at the casino and ate pizza.

More than $1,500 worth of prizes were donated by parents and local businesses.

With five shutouts to their credit, the varsity football players finished the '86 campaign with a 7-2 record and a share of the I-70 League title with Junction City and Topeka West.

Despite the team's success, a major let-down was the 35-0 loss to Junction City. The Indians lost more than just the game, however. They also lost the silver football trophy, which MHS had held for seven consecutive years and did not qualify for the playoffs for the first time in seven years.

"The team had high hopes and goals at the start of the season but fell a little short," said head football coach Lew Lane.

Earning I-70 All League honors were Phil Dodderidge, Bryan Bisnette, Kevin Oard and Ken Benson on defense and Eric Strauss, Paul Russell and Gar Ball on offense.

A one-point loss to Junction City was the only blemish on the JV football team's shining 6-1 record. The sophomore team had a 4-3 season, while the freshmen A team went 4-4 and freshmen B team was 1-1-1.

JV coach Don Morgan described his squad as "a team without a star. All of the players contributed to their fine season. Throughout the year they grew together as a team and took great pride in Manhattan football."

The sophomore team had "two" seasons. After a slow 1-3 start, the players came back strong to win their last three games. According to Coach Brent Yancey, "The defense made some adjustments late in the season that proved fruitful in stopping our opponents."

The freshmen A team also had a rocky 1-3 start, but as Coach Tony Andrade explained, "They came back and fought real hard as a team to accomplish a good 4-4 record."

Although the nice weather was definitely a bonus for the 1986 cross country season, the future looked grim for the young, inexperienced team. With few returning on the varsity, the team wasn't expected to accomplish much, let alone qualify for State.

Yet somehow this mismatched group of novice and "seasoned" runners combined efforts to produce a winning team. Placing fourth in one of the toughest regionals ever, both the girls' and boys' teams qualified for the State meet where they placed eighth.

Largely contributing to the teams' standings were runners Katie Williams and Sam Smith. Smith received a top ranking of sixth in State, while Williams finished 16th.

Recapping the season, Coach Bill Congleton said, "It was the most enjoyable season in 16 years. We had a large number of inexperienced runners, but we finished much higher than we first anticipated."

Winning the school's first-ever 6A championship culminated the volleyball team's 319 season MHS owned Lawrence, 15-11, 15-12, in the finals to win the state crown.

Senior Kim McNabb and junior Rhonda Hughes were named to the state all-tournament team, while senior Amy Lyons received honorable mention.

Enroute to state competition, the team won I-70 League title for the seventh straight year and captured sub state for the eighth time.

McNabb was the Indians' top server with a 97 percent success rate (333 of 345), followed by Hughes (426 of 458) and senior Terri Brown (335 of 362), both with 93 percent. Hughes also led the team in aces (69) and in passing, making 225 of 317 for 71 percent.

Brown was the team's top spiker, with 353 total kills and a 37 percent proficiency, followed by Hughes with 269 kills and a 36 percent success rate.

Coach Mary Lou Morgan, who resigned from her coaching duties after 11 years as head coach, said, "The team had a saying that they always kept in mind-'Don't let failure rob you of success.' That's the best way to describe how the team handled the season."

Fourteen players saw playing time on the JV volleyball team as the squad posted a 12-7 record. Team honors went to blocker Becky Page (17 solo blocks), team leader and server Kathy Reno and hitters Tracy Robinson, Alison Mott and Sarah Vestweber.

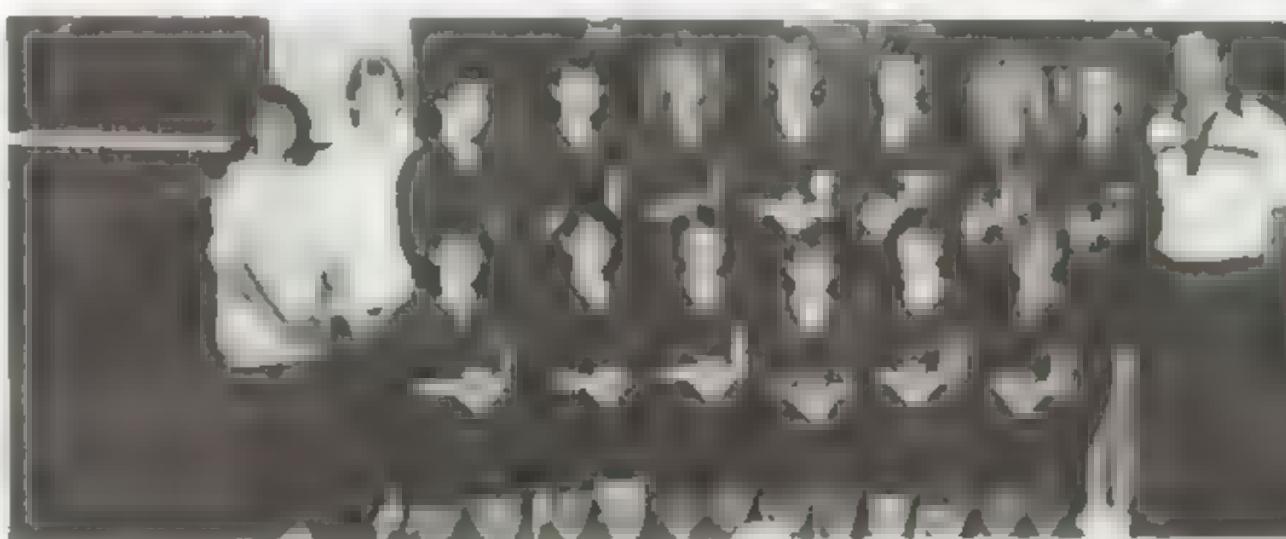

Enroute to a 6-3 record, top servers for the sophomore "A" team were Nancy Post, Heather Riley and Trenny Dillon, while Post, Heather Engstrom, Carla Van Nostran, Mott and Kristi Gorman were top spikers. The "B" team had a 1-1 record.

The freshmen "A" team had an 8-6 record, while the freshmen "B" team went 3-3. The season high point was a third-place finish at the Junction City tournament, and the team's most consistent players were Kaari Bryant and Kristi Depew. Nikki Hawkins won "most improved" honors.

Golfers—state champs again

The MHS girls' golf team accomplished something only one other MHS team has ever done—back to back State champion titles.

This repeat championship was the result of hardwork and the determination it took to beat Shawnee Mission East by 19 strokes with a 339 team score.

Showcasing their talents, the girls proved they had the key elements to play this mental game involving coordination, skill and a positive attitude.

Enroute to the team's undefeated season, junior Adena Hagedorn recorded an impressive record by placing first in eight of the nine season meets, including regionals. She faltered at the State tourney, shooting 44 on the front, but came back with an unbelievable 36 on the back nine to place third.

Senior Stacy Puls, who was second at regionals, won medalist honors at State with her best-ever score of 76. Prior to State, she had never broken 80. Senior Tara Wood also strongly contributed to the State title with an 88, her best-ever finish.

Coach Larry Becroft said the season was "very satisfying," noting that the team's "hardwork and consistency" made the team's State Championship possible.

Varsity girls' tennis players achieved two firsts, three seconds and one third before dropping to fifth place in both the Manhattan Invitational and the I-70 League meets. At the season-ending regional meet, no one qualified for state.

"They played very well at several matches but had a tough time at the I-70 League meet and regionals," explained head coach Tari Boller, who labeled the season "reasonably successful."

The team was led by singles players Tonya Roche (12-18) and Stephanie Brown (23-8) and doubles teammates Sheri and Staci Tolley (13-16) and Kelli Rogers and Gabriela Flora (22-8).

The JV netters finished with two firsts, two seconds, three thirds and a sixth. Top players included Stacey Simms (12-14) and doubles partners Jennifer and Laura Baker (15-9).

Speed, strength and endurance were the elements that made the boys' swim team tough enough to shatter five school records. But it was their competitive spirit that brought them an undefeated dual season, a second consecutive I-70 League title and a fifth-place ranking in the state championships.

Jayson Kaus became the first boys' state champion with a new school record time in the 50 freestyle. He also broke the 100 breaststroke time with a fourth-place finish at state. Brian McCallum broke the MHS record in the 100 backstroke en route to a seventh-place finish, while McCallum, Eric Strauss, Bill Schultz and Kaus placed fourth and broke the 200 medley relay time. The fifth school record was accomplished by Robin Wilcox in the 500 freestyle at the I-70 meet.

Other state finishes included McCallum, 100 butterfly, 7th; Wilcox, 500 freestyle, 8th; and Wilcox, Schultz, Andrew McCulloch and Peter Dees, 400 freestyle relay, 8th.

Team gets 2nd trip to state

Dena Hagedorn
Staff Writer

Registering the best season since 1966, the boys' varsity basketball team finished with an 18-4 record and their second consecutive trip to state since 1956. Manhattan was ranked in the top five all season.

The team earned a trip to state with a 69-53 victory over Junction City in the sub-state championship. At state, the fourth-seeded Indians were stopped in the opening round by fifth-seeded Wichita North, the eventual state championship team.

Coach Mike Leahy, who resigned in April to become head basketball coach in Boulder, Colo., said he was "very proud of this group of young men. The chemistry of this team was outstanding and they represented the student-athlete image so well. Along with that, they were extremely talented. I am proud to say I had the opportunity to coach them!"

In the post-season honors, J.T. Marshall was named the most valuable player. The outstanding defensive player award went to Steve Post, and the free-throw champion was Nick Weigel with 78 percent. The sixth-man starter award went to Tom Leahy.

On the I-70 League first team were John Mugler, Marshall and Weigel. 6A All-State honors went to Marshall, first team; Weigel, third team; and Mugler, honorable mention.

Marshall also was named to the All-State (all-classes) team, Mr. Kansas by Kansas Basketball Coaches Assn. and the Gatorade National Player of the Year for Kansas.

Overpowered by his Topeka West opponents, John Mugler finds himself in a tight situation. In a battle of I-70 foes, MHS downed the Chargers, 82-53. (photo by Scott Boyd)

JV records near perfect year

Dena Hagedorn
Staff Writer

All the MHS boys' basketball teams posted winning records. The junior varsity squad had an outstanding season with an 18-1 record, while both the sophomore and freshmen squads finished with 13-5 records.

The J.V. team had only one defeat, a 66-59 loss to Lawrence. Maurice Benson was named the squad's outstanding defensive player. Coach Gary Schwandt said, "I thought that the J.V. kids kept improving as the season progressed and at the end of the season they played extremely well."

The sophomore squad proved to be strong with Warren Noble being named the most outstanding defensive player. "Over all, the team played well and I was very pleased," said Coach Tom Pluckett.

The freshmen team's outstanding defensive player was Marvin Butler. Coach Dexter Bohn commented that it was an "excellent year. No one expected us to do very well, but due to the hard work of the team and their willingness to do what was necessary to improve, the season was very successful." This was proven as the freshmen squad won eight of their last nine games.

"When we lost to Lawrence, it felt like we lost much more than just one game. This only got us up to destroy Salina South in our last game."

Sam Smith, 11

"The biggest moment was beating Seaman for the third time because there was no love loss between us, and it was enjoyable to see them 'take it on the chin'."

Jason Gallagher, 10

"I will remember when Jason Weigel tackled a 5'10", 220-lb. kid from Topeka West in the air. He kept him from scoring and took him out of the game."

Jeff Placek, 9

"I enjoyed all the people on the team, and I had a good time with them. I really missed not finishing the season."

Beth Carl, 12

"I feel fortunate to have participated in Manhattan High's outstanding basketball program. I have benefited from this season in more ways than one. I've learned what it is to make a total commitment to my teammates in order to achieve the goals we set for ourselves as well as the team."

Melissa McCranie, 12

"It was a really neat experience to find out what 6A girls' basketball is all about. I had a lot of fun, and I'm looking forward to next year."

Grabbing third at the Shawnee Heights Tournament, the best-ever finish for the Lady Indians, and reaching the sub-state finals highlighted the 13-8 season for the varsity girls' basketball team.

The girls ranked in the top 8 for the majority of the season and broke three individual and six team records.

Coach Betsy Sloan attributed the team's success to "many excellent individual performances and the improvement in overall team play throughout the season."

The team's top scorers were Kim McNabb, 346 points; Carol Russell, 293 points; and Terri Brown, 158 points. The most rebounds were captured by Carol Russell, 163; Terri Brown, 121; and Melissa McCranie, 91.

In post season honors, McNabb and Russell were named to the first all-league and second all-state teams, while McCranie earned an honorable mention league ranking. McNabb also set a new school record for most points scored in one season.

JV girls compile 17-1 record

With a 17-1 record, the JV girls' basketball team recorded MHS's best overall girls' JV record ever.

The JV's only defeat was a 49-37 loss to Seaman, while the team won games by as much as 58 and 41 points. The closest game was the season opener against Emporia.

"This record was the total effort of all 14 JV players," said Coach Bill Congleton explaining that it was the "team's play and player participation in almost all games" that produced the winning team.

Top scorers were Kristi Depew with 141 points followed by Nancy Post with 82 and Barby Miller with 79. Post was the top rebounder with 165, while Depew was second with 118. Miller was third with 84 rebounds.

In a somewhat disappointing season, the freshmen girls' team finished with an 8-10 record. "A" team top scorers were Laura Reeck and Kaari Bryant. Despite the record, Coach John Schmidt said the "team has a lot of potential."

Continuing a tradition of excellence, the varsity wrestling team beat 11 of the 13 teams they faced in dual competition and finished as the fourth best 6A squad in Kansas.

In his first year as head coach, Mr. Lee Woodford was especially happy with MHS's third-consecutive first-place finish in the I-70 League. "Winning the league was the high point for me personally," the coach said.

Coach Woodford also was proud of how his team did in head-to-head competition. "We had an outstanding dual record. If you go through the list, eight of the 11 teams we defeated were in the top five of their division at State."

MHS held its own in its division at State, finishing fourth in 6A. Senior Chad Cecil won the 119-lb. crown, while seniors Lance Walker (145) and Patrick Lee (132) finished third and senior Mike Wisdom (167) was fourth. Other MHSers who qualified for the State tournament were Rick Lowe, 138; Lynn King, 185; and Scott Marshall, heavyweight.

The team's top record (31-1) came from Walker, whose only loss came in the second round of the State meet. Other top records were registered by Lee, 27-5; Wisdom, 27-11; Keith George, 19-7; Lowe, 21-10; and King, 20-11.

Clint Riley, Walker and Cecil were chosen by their teammates as the "most inspirational" matmen, while Lowe, Wisdom and Marshall were chosen as the most improved wrestlers.

"This year was the best ever, mainly because I took first at state, but also I had my best record. I remember at state when I looked at the scoreboard, and I was winning 7-3. When the clock said 0:03, 0:02, 0:01..., that was the greatest feeling in my entire life."

Intramurals

500 take part in five sports

Jennifer Gilbert

The intramural program involved about 500 students who participated in the five sports offered.

In the fall six teams played indoor soccer, while others chose to compete in three-on-three basketball. Also, 30-35 students per evening took advantage of the open gym program.

Throughout the winter 27 boys' teams and 5 girls' teams participated in four-on-four basketball. During the spring the recreation was volleyball.

Games in each sport were scheduled two nights per week, with four-on-four basketball and volleyball having tournaments at the end of the season. T-shirts were awarded to the champions.

Mr. Bill Greene, intramurals coordinator for the past six years, said that with so many enthusiastic students involved, MHS has one of the best intramural programs in the state.

With a dual season record of 6-1, a second consecutive I-70 League title and a fifth-place finish at state, the girls' swimming team was content.

"The competition was tough, but we never gave up," stated co-captain Sabrina Haffner. "We all worked really hard at practice to get our high placings."

With every swimmer finishing in the top six of their events and the divers placing second and third, the team outscored the closest competitor by more than 180 points at the league meet. Freshman standout Bridget Everett shattered league records in the 200 individual medley and 100 butterfly. She also helped the 400 freestyle relay team of Jill McCallum, Alanna Holden and Haffner to break a third record.

Speaking of the 32-team state meet, coach Mike Dillon said, "It was a fast meet and the girls did well." Without winning a single event, the team placed the highest any MHS girls' team has placed at state.

Placing in the top six at state were Everett, Yvonne Mielke, Haffner and Sara Coleman, 200 medley relay, 2nd; Everett, 100 butterfly, 4th; and Mielke, 100 breaststroke, 5th.

Two second-place finishes helped propel MHS into 12th place in the Class 6A State Track and Field Championships in Wichita.

For the second consecutive year, Matt Veatch finished second in the 6A state javelin competition as he hurled the spear 203'11", one inch shorter than the first-place finish and nearly five feet further than his best in 1986.

Eric Strauss uncorked a personal best of 168'9" to place second in the discus competition. Other top performances were turned in by Tom Leahy, fifth, high jump (6'4"); Mike Hagen, sixth, javelin (171'4"); and Sam Smith, 12th, 3,200-meter run (10:57.90).

Other tracksters who qualified for the state meet were Marcus Wilhoite, long jump; Brett Wallerstedt, shot put; and the two-mile relay team: John Mugler, Matt Lauria, Jarrett Meek and Joel Vitera. Paul Russell and Sam Smith also ran on that relay team during the season.

During the season, the boys' track team won the seven-team Manhattan Invitational and placed second at the six-team Junction City Invitational.

At the home meet, MHS won five of the six field events: Veatch, javelin; Strauss, discus; Wallerstedt, shot put; Leahy, high jump; and Wilhoite, long jump. The boys' other first-place finish was Mugler's 800-meter run.

Noting MHS had the "really strong field team," head coach Bill Congleton said, "Our whole track strength was built around the throwers and the jumpers."

Undefeated during the invitational season, the girls' track team qualified 14 athletes in 12 events for the Kansas State High School Track and Field Championships in Wichita. Manhattan placed 19th in the 32-team meet.

Top finishers for the Indians were Lisa Toburen, fourth, javelin (112'9", a new school record); Carol Russell, sixth, high jump (5'1"); Kerste Bryant, sixth, 100 high hurdles (16.0), and sixth, 300 intermediate hurdles (47.70); Jami Benkelman, fifth, 200 (26.20); Katie Williams, 3,200 meters, eighth (12:11.30); Tracy Robinson, 11th, 800 meters (2:27.0); and the 1,600-meter relay team of Benkelman, Bryant, Robinson and Terri Brown, sixth (4:12.70).

Head coach Bill Congleton attributed the team's success to "good senior leadership" and "a combination of quality and depth." Not only were the varsity girls undefeated, but Coach Congleton also pointed out that the JV team also had an unblemished record.

In addition to Toburen's new school record in the javelin, Bryant set a new mark in the 100-meter high hurdles with a time of 15.8 at the Salina Central Invitational.

"Realizing that I was capable of breaking 12 minutes was the most exciting thing about track this season. I only broke it by three seconds, but it made me feel like I could be more competitive.. and more confident in future races."

Golf team 2nd in 6A tourney

The boys' golf team accomplished its highest finish as a 6A six-man team, with a second-place finish at the State Tournament in Garden City.

MHS couldn't hold off Shawnee Mission East as they took the state title with a 308 total score, compared to Manhattan's 316 total. Competing on the state team were Sean Weixelman, William Siebert, Mark Emerson, Kenny Ferguson, Todd Dillon and Eric Barton.

Top finishers throughout the season were seniors Weixelman and Dillon. Weixelman finished second at the state meet with a 75, was top medalist at I-70 with a 73 and placed first at the MHS Invitational with a 71.

Dillon lead the Indians with a 77 en route to the team's first-place finish at regionals. He also placed second at I-70 with a 75, helping the team to a first-place finish.

Coach Brent Yancey said he "was pleased and happy the players started peaking at the right time. The team consisted of a lot of good talent." Second in state was the highest finish for any Indian team in Coach Yancey's 10 years of coaching at Manhattan High.

"Golf is a team and an individual sport. You play well for the team first, and then hope you played well enough to place individually."

Worthington—state qualifier

Janel Allerheiligen

Describing the year as "one of definite highs and low," boys' tennis coach Dexter Bohn said, "The highest points were the team's second place finish at the Junction City Invitational, defeating Topeka West in a dual meet two weeks before they took second in the state, and (singles player) Scott Worthington qualifying for state."

At the state meet, Worthington was defeated by the No. 1 seed, Rhain Buth of Wichita Southeast, 6-1, 6-1, and then lost to Topeka High's David Schaffer, 9-3, in the consolation match. Schaffer finished 10th.

The lowest point, the coach said, was "O.J. Allen and Chang Yi not qualifying for state." This was the second consecutive year that the Indians' top doubles team was defeated in regional play.

First doubles players Mike Fegter and Scott Worthington find the competition stiff as they place seventh in the Manhattan Invitational. The team scored 28 points to place fourth in the seven-team field. (photo by Willem Preyde)

"Adapting between doubles and singles is not that difficult. It is similar to using a different weighted bowling ball."

Chang Yi, 12

"Tennis is definitely a team sport. Without the help and support of the other team members and coaches, a player would not have a chance to be successful against other players."

Jim Phelps, 12

"Keeping my patience with my partner and remembering to say 'rats' when I get angry are the most challenging parts of playing doubles."

The Decision Makers

School board, administrators set policy

Sara Kitchen

Staff Writer

Ever wonder who those people were that came to a class for one hour one day and looked like they were taking notes like the rest of the class, but never came again? Well, those were your administrators, doing one of their many duties, evaluating teachers.

Dr. James Rezac, principal, oversaw the entire network of actions that kept the school system running smoothly, while each assistant principal was assigned a certain area to look after.

As part of the computer plan adopted by the USD 383 Board of Education last year, a new computer system was installed that stored more information than previous systems. Assistant Principal Sylvester Benson placed emphasis upon the advantage of speed obtained from the current system.

Adding to the convenience, each administrator and counselor had a terminal in his/her office. The main terminal was located at the Robinson Education Center.

Electives Spice The 'Unavoidables'

English, social studies, mathematics departments offer variety

Jonell Borst
Staff Writer

They're unavoidable. Everyone has to deal with them whether they want to or not. English, math and social studies are three of the five required subjects at MHS.

But since there are 23 English electives, eight social studies electives and 17 different math classes to choose from, there are probably over 37,000 different combinations of schedules available!

It is essential to obtain skills in grammar, composition and literature in order to succeed in a college, vocational school or career. These are the skills that all students learn through the MHS English department.

Many students chose to take more than the four required units of English, however. Almost 300 students were enrolled in advanced English classes, including seven who took classes at Kansas State University.

Although only two units of math are required, MHS students took 3.55 units on the average. Furthermore, those in the top 25 percent of their class took an average of 4.32 units. Almost 450 students took advanced math classes (Trigonometry, Algebra III, Analytical Geometry and Calculus). How's that for numbers?

In taking the three required units of social studies, MHS students received a better understanding of America's democratic heritage. Not only do the classes accomplish this, but some extracurricular activities emphasize history and government knowledge as well.

MHS has sent student and teacher delegations to the state and national "Close-Up" programs for the past few years. In January, Mrs. Mickey Boggs and 18 of her students traveled to Washington, D.C., to observe how our democratic system works.

The Musts

Science, P.E. among the required classes

Marc Goss
Staff Writer

All students who graduate from Manhattan High School must have two credits of physical education and two credits of science. The two credits of P.E. are usually taken during the freshman and sophomore years, while the science credits are taken at various times.

The physical education curriculum includes 11 weeks of health, nine during the freshman year and two during the sophomore year.

In P.E., students were expected to participate in team sports such as volleyball and basketball, and individual activities like square dancing and aerobics. In health, freshmen studied first aid, sex education and drugs and alcohol. The sophomore class studied CPR.

Electives in physical education are junior and senior P.E. conditioning, basic weight training, advanced weight training and gym assistant.

For the two science credits, students can choose from 18 different courses including chemistry, physics and oceanology, the most popular science class. More than 400 students enrolled in the one-semester class this past year.

New teachers in the science department were Mr. Mark Wentz, who taught chemistry and physics, and Mr. Gary Schwandt, who taught zoology and practical science.

Chamber Choir was chosen as one of the three large choirs to perform at the Kansas Music Educators Association (KMEA) convention Feb. 28 in Wichita.

Six choir members also were chosen for membership in the KMEA All-State Choir. Representing MHS were Char Hoppe, soprano; Nanette Pelletier, soprano; Lydia Chang, alto; Jenny Morgan, alto; Jason Schafer, tenor; and Clint Riley, bass.

Both Chamber Choir and Concert Choir received "I" ratings at the state large group competition April 7 in Junction City. Soloists and small groups who obtained a "I" at the district competition April 4 continued to the State competition in Emporia on April 25.

In the state competition Chamber Girls received a superior ("I") rating. Vocalists who received "I" ratings were Melissa Annis, alto; Julie Borst, soprano; Char Hoppe, soprano; and Rachel Wallace, soprano.

Sugar and Spice and Pops Choir performed for organizations such as churches, elementary schools, Lions Club and the Optimist Christmas breakfast.

To prepare for the performance, band members doubled their practice time, both zero and first hour. "We're working a lot harder. The students are spending more time practicing, and I think the students can see the rewards of hard work," said Mr. Rod Manges, band director.

In individual competitions, trumpeter Jim Dickie was one of two Kansas high school students chosen to perform in the John Philip Sousa Honor Band May 2-9 in Washington, D.C. Dickie also played in the Central States Jazz Festival honor band and the KMEA honor band. Others chosen for both honor bands were Afan Ottenheimer and Sonja Henry, while John McKee, Juli Borst and Lisa Leuthold were in the KMEA honor band. Alan Keithley was in KMEA honor band.

Elective Choices Courses develop skills, interests

Susan Parks

Staff Writer

With a variety of courses to choose from, the MHS curriculum was designed to give students choices as well as the basic skills they need. Eight elective credits are required for graduation.

The art department offered 17 different courses, everything from photography to jewelry making.

Fifteen courses were taught in the business department. Some of the introductory courses included Recordkeeping, Office Practices and General Business, with Typing II and III and Accounting II among the advanced courses designed to prepare students for careers in the business field.

Four years of Spanish, French and German were offered by the foreign language department. Students learned to write, speak and understand a foreign language as well as study about the culture of the people who speak those languages.

In the practical arts and vocational education area, 39 courses were offered, ranging from production agriculture and horticulture to general auto mechanics and welding. Other courses included logic in living, sewing and textiles skills, home interiors, personal and child development, food and nutrition skills, consumer education, occupations, drafting, woods, cabinet making, graphic communications systems, welding, metals and plastics.

Serving Special Needs

Special services, library, counselors assist

Jonell Borst
Staff Writer

When you walk down the halls of MHS, you can see many faces, each one diverse from the next. With diversity comes special needs, needs that are met by the school's special programs and library and guidance programs.

The library provides more than 24,000 books and audio-visual items for students and faculty to use. The library is also a place for students to study and have access to reference materials.

Often times the librarians work with class groups and give orientations on how to use the library to the best advantage.

Mrs. Joyce Whitson, one of the library's media specialists, stated, "(We hope) students will become library users for a lifetime."

The special services at MHS help just about everyone in the school. The programs include gifted, learning disorders, educable mentally handicapped (EMH), behavioral disorders (BD) and the Continuation School.

Four auxiliary services also are included in the special services: English as a second language (ESL), in-school suspension, alcohol prevention and the school nurse.

Mrs. Charlotte Doyle, head of the special services department, said they act "as support personnel for the students and faculty at MHS. They supply the special resources necessary to meet student's specific needs."

The five counselors in the guidance department help the entire student body. They help students make decisions by providing valid information about themselves, their values, vocational and educational interests, aptitudes and abilities.

They do this by interviewing freshmen, evaluating senior transcripts, providing scholarship information, giving various tests throughout the year and helping students in a variety of ways.

STUCO: MORP, Playfair, petition drive become new high school events

Student Council added three new activities to its schedule: MORP, Playfair and the National Forum petition drive.

The biggest and most popular event was the MORP dance where the girls asked the guys out to a "backwards prom." The couples dressed "fashionably tacky" and ate at places such as Burger King and McDonald's. This new event, attended by approximately 325 couples, raised $550 for StuCo.

Another new activity was Playfair, held in August. It was a series of non-competitive games to start the year off and to help new students to Manhattan High, as well as old students, meet new people.

StuCo's last new activity was a National Forum petition drive. Student Council members encouraged MHS students to sign a petition saying they would like to see a televised forum of scientists and President Reagan address the issue of nuclear arms.

"The forum would be set up so the youth of America can form their own opinions about nuclear arms," said StuCo President Dennis Marstall.

To support their activities, StuCo members raised $600 from selling computer matches and homecoming flowers. The money was used to finance projects such as a scholarship for a senior, staff appreciation days and an end-of-the-year service project.

TRIBE:

Council adds car caravan, raffle, mini parade, contests as events

Sara Cullen
Staff Writer

Tribe's 25-member council, headed by President Heidi Kruckenbergs, initiated five new events, beginning with a car caravan to the first football game.

The club also sponsored a raffle for an autographed football and the Winter Homecoming Week additions: the Miss Sweet Feet competition, the mini parade and the club sweepstakes.

Out of the 15 car caravan participants, Teyre Demonburn's van won first prize for best decorations.

The football raffle was mainly a spirit raiser instead of a moneymaker since the tickets cost only 10 cents each. The ticket sales covered the price of the football which was autographed by the varsity football team and was won by Gloria Moore.

The Miss Sweet Feet competition, with 13 contestants, was won by Annika Borjesson, an AFS student from Sweden. The mini parade had 12 entries, including French Club's winning guillotine and NHS's version of Big Ben.

AFS and French Club tied for first in the club sweepstakes competition with 120 points each, and Spanish Club came in second with 110 points. The homecoming dance also featured a first—the live band Roulette, a local band composed of MHS graduates.

Dress up days for Fall Homecoming Spirit Week included Sweats Day, Jams-Hawaiian Day, Inside Out Day, Boxer Day and Class Colors Day. Tie Day, College Day, Time Warp Day, Formal Day and Class Colors Day were the Winter Homecoming Spirit Week dress up days.

Dues paid by the club's 300 members helped finance the traditional spirit-raising banners and locker signs.

CHEERS: 12-girl squad supports varsity

Kim Peacock
Staff Writer

After four years of two separate varsity squads, the white and blue cheerleading squads were combined into one varsity squad. In merging the squads, the responsibilities of the cheerleaders became more time consuming.

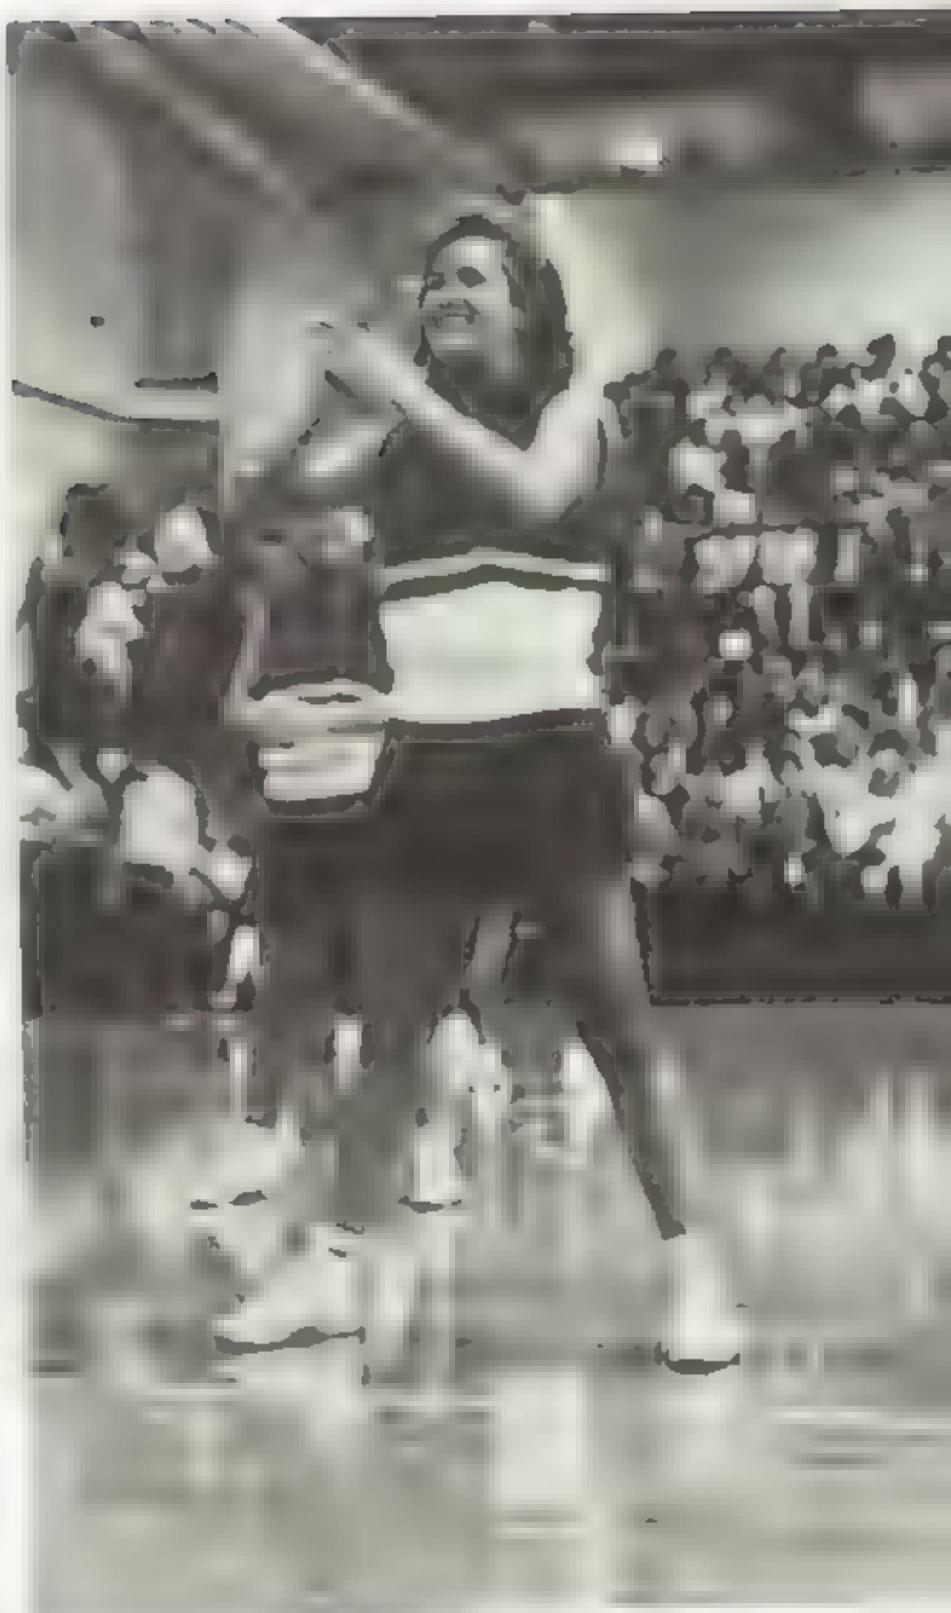

The varsity squad was required to cheer at all varsity football, varsity volleyball and varsity and junior varsity boys' and girls' basketball games. They also were hostesses at cross country, swimming and track meets.

Another change that was made was the requirement that the sophomore squad cheer at JV football home games. They also cheered for sophomore football, volleyball and basketball home games. The freshmen squad cheered at home freshmen football, volleyball and basketball games.

The wrestling squad cheered at home and away varsity wrestling meets and at home JV meets.

In preparation for their games, the cheerleaders held afterschool practices three times a week. Some of the squads carried their responsibilities a little farther and made signs and cookies for the players.

FBLA: Members enter business contests; make money selling merchandise

Anita Simmons
Staff Writer

Using the business skills they learned in school, MHS Future Business Leaders of America members attended regional and state contests to test their knowledge in competitions with other Kansas FBLA members.

Karla DeLoach, Carrie Lewis, Gloria Jackson, Teresa Suggs and Leslie Hamilton attended the district competition in Rossville in February, while Karla was joined by Susan Jenkins and Angie Sallman at the state contest in Emporia.

Funding came from earning $300 selling Tom Wat merchandise and by working at the MHS concession stand. FBLA also sponsored the showing of Top Gun to collect food for the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

Generic Club is for students interested in home and family living. Activities focused on helping students prepare for their own homes in the future.

Wege, Bammes, York HERO: get top scores at state

Jennifer Gilbert
Staff Writer

Three OHE-Occupations HERO members received top scores and 12 other students earned superior ratings at the state HERO contest April 3 in Wichita. Each student entered contests designed to test job knowledge gained in the classroom and/or on the job.

Tabitha Wege received the highest rating in the state for her job manual, while Kenny Bammes and Mike York tied for a perfect score in the job display category.

Other recipients of "I" ratings were Frank Hoekstra, Tony McDowell, Jerry Morehead, Patty Nickerson and Michelle Wilmsmeyer, job display; Teresa Bonacorda, Laura Fabre, Kim Jordon and Angie Mallam, cake decorating; Steve Flemons, dress for success; Carrie Kerr, food counter worker; and Lisa Kluber, banking skills.

HERO members were enrolled in OHE-Occupations, which is a class for seniors to gain employment experience, credit, money and knowledge about the world of work. They held several traditional events funded with $500 made by selling calenders.

About 25 students took part in an employer appreciation dinner, day care olympics and Christmas party.

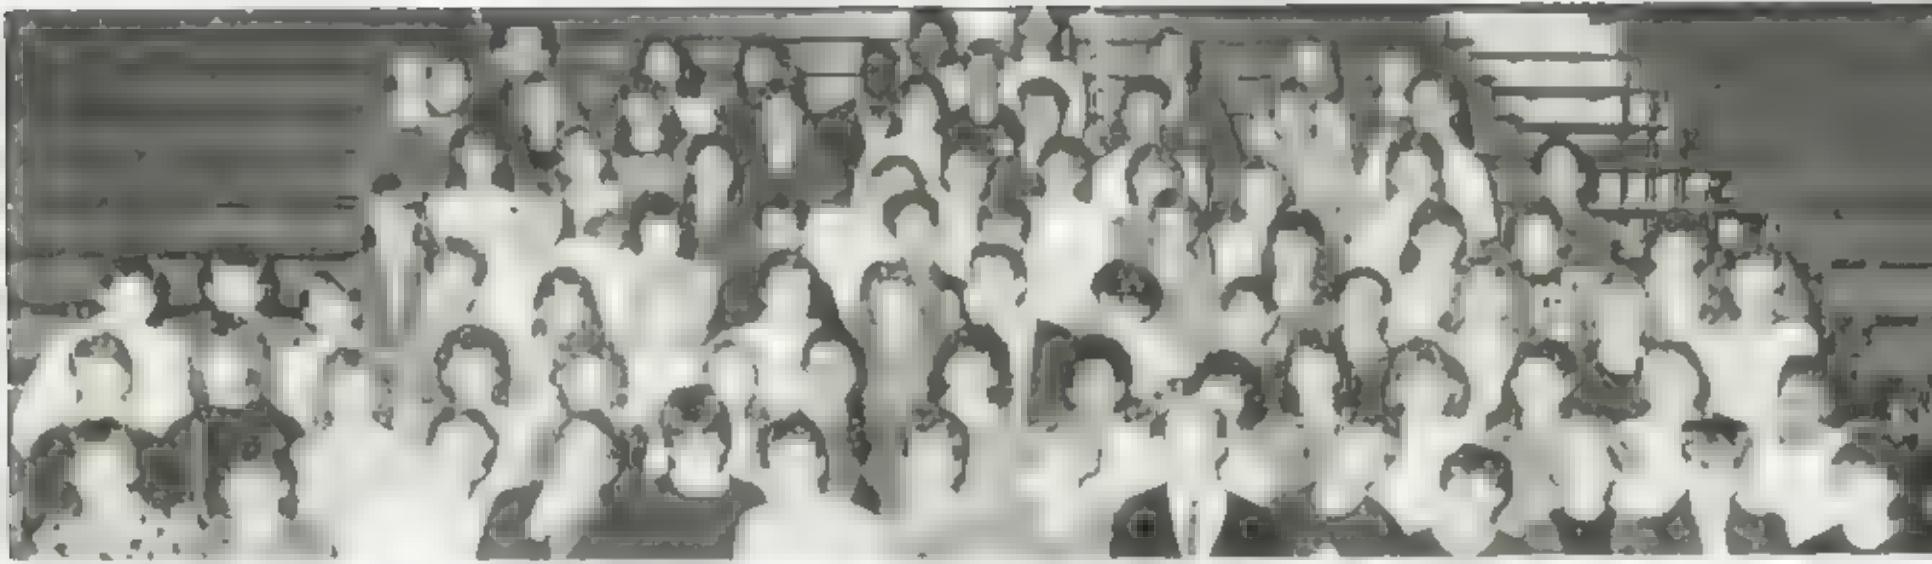

The co-presidents, Steve Flemons and Tony McDowell, participated in a local leadership conference in October. Tony also was elected as a state council delegate along with co-vice president Patty Nickerson. Both attended meetings in Wichita to plan state events.

NFL, THESPIANS: Debaters win 6A state championship; three qualify for national tournament

Jonell Borst and Patty King
Staff Writers

How would you like to spend a semester or two of Saturdays waking up around 5:30 a.m.? If you were one of 53 debaters or 65 forensicators belonging to the National Forensic League, that was exactly what you did.

The debate squad attended 42 tournaments, capping the season by winning the 6A State Championship Debate Tournament. The team of Chris Kromm, William Marsh, Colleen Terrell, June Lyle, Martha Kropf and Brad Setser compiled a 10-2 record by arguing the question, "Resolved: That the federal government should implement a comprehensive, long-term agricultural policy in the United States."

Altogether, in both debate and forensics, more than 50 trophies were won, including five sweepstakes trophies in debate and 11 in forensics.

Highlights of the forensics season included having three students qualify for the National Speech Tournament in Cincinnati, Ohio, in June. William Marsh qualified in the student congress category and Clint Riley and Kirsten Unger qualified in original oration.

The forensics team ended the season with a fifth-place finish in the 6A State Championship Forensics Tournament. Clint became the first MHS forensicator to win state in the original oration category and the third to win state in any category. Other placings included Miriam Bowers and Laura Pelletier, second and third in original oration; Carrie Clark and Laura Kissel, second in duet act and James Hu and Brad Setser, second and fourth in the Lincoln-Douglas debate.

Working on the local level, Thespians were able to meet the challenges posed by each play production despite the calls for more make-up, brighter lights, more volume and the proper sets and costumes.

Those plays included the one-act plays, Trifles and Zoo Story and the spring production, Arsenic and Old Lace. They also helped out with the sets and lights for the school musical, Camelot.

Social events included the Thespian Reunion where several graduates came back and shared their experiences and a "Thespian Spatula" talent show for club members in January. Members also participated in the Junction City Haunted House and Halloween Face Painting.

Thespian awards went to Miriam Bowers, Jason Schafer, Jason Brown and Alan Zidek.

Club wins window painting for second consecutive year

David Unekis
Staff Writer

Spanish Club won the Winter Homecoming window painting contest for the second straight year. The club design had a cat with the phrase, "MHS es el miau del gatto" (MHS is the cat's meow).

Club activities began with the annual fund raiser, the sale of pumpkin grams. Sponsor Mrs. Nadine Jones said sales were "above average."

But the biggest moneymaker by far was the Nov. 7 all-school dance. The dance, the first sponsored by Spanish Club, netted more than $300.

At the beginning of second semester, club members welcomed Amity Aide Maria Nilda Hechen. A volleyball game and soccer game finished out the welcoming party.

The club operated the concession stand during April and then closed the year's activities with a progressive dinner to three homes April 30.

German Club's activities began with a club picnic in September and ended with a foreign language clubs picnic in May. German Club was joined by French and Spanish Clubs for an afternoon at the lake. Both activities featured good food and games.

Seventeen members participated in the club's volleyball game in the fall, and several also braved the cold winter in December to go caroling at Christmastime.

With the new year came German Club's annual fund raiser, the Gummie bear sales, which netted more than $150. The club also participated in the Winter Homecoming events, including the club volleyball tournament and the window painting contest. The club honorary was Ann Tiao.

In January, club members held a welcoming party for Amity Aide Priska Truttman. Priska came from Switzerland and stayed in Manhattan for nine weeks before going on to Washington. The club also held a farewell party for Priska before her departure.

FRENCH: Mini parade entry a winner; members tie for sweepstakes

Marc Goss
Staff Writer

With a first-place victory in the first-ever Winter Homecoming Week mini-parade and a second place in the window painting contest, French Club tied with AFS for first place in the club sweepstakes competition.

The club's float, constructed on a child's wagon, featured a guillotine—a reference to the French Revolution—and a message to dethrone the Trojans. The group's window design, a large watch emphasized that it was the time for a victory.

French Club members also entered the club volleyball competition but were eliminated in the quarterfinals. The representatives for Mr. Sexy Legs was Hans Lapping, Miss Sweet Feet was Heather Riley and the club honoraries were Colleen Terrell and Paxton Schneider.

French Club fund raisers included the sale of more than 250 Gobblegrams in November and the Crepe Cafe at the Thespian Carnival in March. Other activities included a Christmas party, a club banquet and a club skating party with German, Spanish and AFS clubs.

SPECIAL INTERESTS: MACESA designs inventions; Rodeo Club buys video tapes

Angie Berkey
Staff Writer

In its second year at MHS, MACESA activities continued to be designed to increase interest in the fields of math, engineering and science.

Ingenuity was the key word as 12 MACESA members created original inventions with the winning school entry—a portable personal composer by Bryan Nehl—earning its inventor a Swatch Watch at the state competition in Kansas City.

Local field trips were taken to the College of Engineering at Kansas State University and B.G. Engineering Consultants. Other activities included guest speakers, one of which was MHS graduate, Bobbie Moore, a freshmen in engineering at K-State.

Mrs. Jeanne Pohlman, club sponsor, noted that upon successful completion of math and science courses, MACESA members are almost always MACESA (the Mid-America Consortium for Engineering and Science Achievement) is geared toward increasing the number of minorities in the fields of math, engineering and science related professions. Local membership increased from 12 to 20.

Due to the lack of interest, Rodeo

Club didn't have the Kurt Anderson Memorial Rodeo. Instead, funds were used to purchase various instructional video tapes ranging from training for rodeos to the performances of the National Finals Rodeo.

Rodeo Club also donated a subscription of the Pro Rodeo Sports News and the official publication of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Assn. to the Manhattan High library.

Cindy Beving
Staff Writer

Eric Maichel became the first MHS Future Farmers of America member since 1981 to be elected to a district office when he was chosen in February to be the 1987-88 North Central District vice president.

The local chapter also received the superior chapter award. MHS has won the award 16 out of the 17 years it has been awarded.

Money making activities included selling a variety of fruits, working the concession stand at the football games, selling popcorn at the basketball games and the annual pork loin barbecue. The profit from these activities totaled about $1,100.

The money was used to attend the state and national conventions and the leadership and officer training camps at Rock Springs Ranch.

PEER HELPERS, SADD, YAC: 'Kiss the Pig' idea has popular debut

Stephanie Clark
Staff Writer

Students Against Driving Drunk, Peer Helpers and Youth Advisory Council are three MHS service organizations. Each one specializes in a different area.

SADD raised $280 with its newest activity, "Kiss The Pig." The money was used to finance drinking and driving and seatbelt awareness programs in October, December and May.

Another new event was a BYOB (bring your own banana) party where the members made ice-cream sundaes.

Peer Helpers, a group of 39 specially selected MHS students, went through problem solving skills training for nine hours in September and October.

Additional weekly small group sessions enabled students to learn more about communication skills and how to solve problems. Approximately every three weeks the students met together to hear guest speakers in topics such as suicide, stress management and eating disorders.

The Peer Helpers' main goals were to help new transfer students get adjusted and give them tours of the building and to help the ESL (English as a Second Language) students get accustomed to their new school.

A four-minute video produced by the Youth Advisory Council was one of the second-place winners in the Florida Department of Citrus 1987 Nutrition Video Contest.

The script for "I Heard It Through The Orange Trees" was written by Mandy Nelson and Laura Kissel, and the $150 prize money will be used for a cafeteria project. Student who worked on the project received portable stereo radios with headsets.

As a new activity, Youth Advisory Council sponsored a sugar display at the K-State Health Fair. The display showed the number of teaspoons of sugar in 20 different food items.

Council members also sold bread at Parents Night and assisted at the Booster Club chili feed.

HONOR SOCIETY: New members are inducted

Mrs. Penny Wika
Contributing Writer

Forty-seven National Honor Society members were inducted in May, bringing to 103 the number of members in the honor organization.

Guest speaker for the induction ceremony was Dr. Pat Bosco, K-State assistant vice president for institutional advancement.

Money earned working at the concession stand in October, sponsoring a Cake Walk at the Thespian Carnival and conducting a car wash in April were used to present $100 scholarships to Sabrina Haffner, Kent Kiracofe and Dennis Marstall.

Members also participated in the Winter Homecoming Week volleyball, window painting and mini float competitions. They helped others through the group's tutoring program and gave a food basket to a needy family at Thanksgiving.

Programs at the monthly meetings included talks by State Rep. Joe Knopp, foreign students Gaelle Roland (France) and Cliff Mulenga (Zambia) and forensics presentations by William Marsh and Miriam Bowers.

MEDIA: Students do copy, paste up

Patty King
Editor

Student publications entered the computer age as copy for both The Mentor and Blue M was locally set with the paste up of both publications done almost entirely by the staffs. Actual paste up and type setting were new experiences for The Mentor staff.

Deadlines were more flexible with the usage of computers, and it was easier for members to use different copy measurements and type styles. The 13-member Mentor staff had three portable computers, while the 16-member Blue M had two.

Quality writing and a professional looking publication were the goals of each staff. Blue M editor Patty King watched with anticipation as the book began to take shape, with the first 16 pages of color emphasizing the "We go together" theme.

Eric Barton and Thomas Ashworth, co-editors of The Mentor, worked for more student input in the weekly newspaper through letters to the editor and the "question of the week."

Despite computer mix ups, rubber cement fumes, and ever-present deadlines, Mrs. Penny Wika said she enjoyed the challenge of advising both publications, the Blue M for the second year and The Mentor for the first time.

Seniors' most memorable high school experience

"Getting to know Debbie Lyons in my Spanish III class my sophomore year."

Tim Ekart

"Walking in here the first day of school as a senior."

Debo Adejunmobi

"Seeing the weirdest hairstyles in the state."

David Miller

"It will be when I walk across the platform and receive my diploma on graduation night."

Devan Henton

"This whole year is memorable to me. My senior year has been the wildest and most fun by far. '87 Jams!"

Scott Wangsgaard

"The day David Miller and I started our relationship as friends."

Jeffrey Grantham

"Coming to Manhattan High and meeting everyone. I think that this senior year will always be memorable to me."

Belinda Mier

"Just being here and being a Manhattan High Indian. There are too many good memories to pick from."

Tim Berends

"Being a new student in this huge school and getting lost on my way to class during the first week and how scary it was at first."

Sophomores use various ways to get their teachers off the subject

"Ask Mrs. Stonehocker to elaborate on a subject, ask her in-depth questions or ask her to discuss current science news. This is, after all, still a learning experience. Better yet, ask her about her grandchildren!"

Lynn Seyler

"Once the teacher starts to tell about something off the subject, even if it's only a little bit, then the whole class has to debate it, analyze it, give their own views or tell their own stories. It's pretty easy with some teachers."

Jennifer Freeman

"With any teacher, start with something only slightly off the topic, ask the question with sheer curiosity and make the teacher seem like he/she is the only one with the 'knowledge' who can answer your question."

Hannah Lai

"With Mrs. Clarke, all you have to do is come to class."

Chris Sidorfsky

"Mention anything but Mrs. Stonehocker's grandchildren, or she will know you're trying to get her off the subject."

Eric Roche

"With Mrs. Bennett, the old line 'Did you hear about...' works just fine!"

Hans Lapping

"Get Mrs. Bennett on a subject that the whole class will share an experience about, and you've got an instant off-the-subject discussion."

Juniors (third row): James Chen, vice president; Brenda Butler, secretary
Not pictured: Eric Long, president; and Jennifer Baker, treasurer. Seniors (back row): Heidi Bulmahn, treasurer; Gloria Moore, secretary; Terri Brown, president; J.T. Marshall, vice president.

What would freshmen do if they suddenly became very wealthy?

"I would go shopping for a new wardrobe. Then I'd buy a car and take a trip to the Caribbean."

Danica Bozich

"Go to the mall!"

Pam Ovellette

"I would invest it and make more money."

Pat Davie

"I sure wouldn't stay in Kansas!"

Jonathan Foster

"Buy anything worth buying."

Eric Deeds

"Help other people who need it."

Suzanne Cowan

"I'd buy a Ferrari, a limo, $300,000 house, a beach and then travel the world and spend the rest!"

Amy Bowen

Suzanne Groton, Lennie Weisbender, Shannon Humes, Kristen Wilson, Carrie Smith, Kendra James, Jason Kastner and Libby Brooks gather around Karen Lapping as she displays her money. (photo by Scott Boyd)

"I would join the Peace Corps and donate all my money to learn about their cultures."

Steve Werner

"Move to Hollywood, buy a mansion and get interviewed by 'Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous.'"

Kerri Keithley

"I would fly to California, Hawaii and New York and pick up my favorite men in the U.S. Bruce Willis, Tom Selleck and Kirk Cameron, and take them all out on a date that they would never forget!"

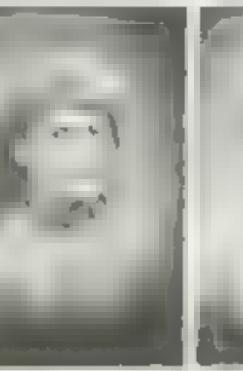

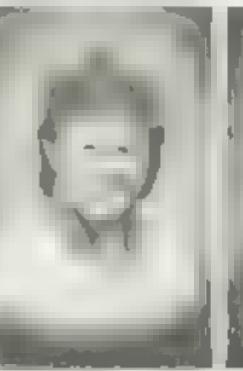

Rachel Wallace

"I would go to school in a limousine."

Manhattan High Booster Club

Dear Manhattan High Indians:

The members of the Booster Club hope that you had a fun-filled year in all your many activities during 1986-1987. We believe that enthusiastic participation in sports, music, and clubs are an important part of your high school experience. We expect you to concentrate and excel in your classroom work as well as in the many other fun and learning opportunities available to you.

As your parents and as members of the business community, we seek to help you in many ways:

- By promotion and publicity of your teams and successes.
- By special recognition of your coaches, leaders, and activity sponsors.
- By sponsoring dances, special projects and buses to out-of-town games.
- By compiling and publishing the fall and winter sports programs.
- By helping bring together parents to share as supporters of your days at Manhattan High.

We are behind the scenes on many other projects and assisting in numerous special needs.

Urge your parents to become active members of the Booster Club. We know they are behind you all the way.

As we worked together during the '86-87 school year, we molded a small piece of history.

Much of what we did involved others. We worked and played together. We studied and relaxed together. Specifically, we came together to:

•create secret plans to devour all the donuts in town.

•wade through the sweat during pre-season football conditioning practices.

•grope our way through the dark halls to zero hour.

•bump, set and spike for that deadly kill at the 6A State Volleyball Championships.

•squeeze our bodies through the halls during passing periods.

•push each other beyond the limit of accomplishment.

•cram for the ACT and SAT tests.

•anxiously await the acceptance letter from that dream college.

•dodge pot holes on Seth Childs and Browning.

•attend those late-night rehearsals that were needed to perfect the musical and school plays.

•patiently await the opening of the downtown mall.

•drag race through the parking lot at lunch time for that elusive parking spot.

•cheer the Indians to seven football victories and 18 boys' basketball wins.

•see the change to a computerized enrollment process.

•master lessons in sprinting from the cemetery wall to make it before the final bell.

•tee off to a 6A Girls' State Golf Championship as well as to qualify three to compete in the National Speech Tournament.

•advise a classmate in studies, dating and car problems.

•build even more precious memories.

When remembering these times in years to come, we'll look back at fond memories of a special year. Our lives have been touched by this year's happenings. We made our mark. We weren't at the end of an era, but at the beginning. Now we go together into the future.
